Employee of the Year Named

Bambang Sutardjo was named the 2007 CHS Employee of the Year at today's service awards luncheon. Bam is the Director of Technology Services. He is responsible for all aspects of the college's network and computer administration and support.

Bam is a native of Indonesia and has been working with the University of Kentucky for 8 years.

"Bam always treats every problem with the greatest respect," said one nomination. "Bam has brought the IT proportion of this college into the 21st century."

Staff Honored for Years of Service

Dresden Carpenter, Account Representative, was honored at today's service awards luncheon for 20 years of service to the university! Dresden has been with the College of Health Sciences since 1987. From 1981 to 1984 she worked for auxiliary services, which included undergraduate housing and the UK bookstore. Then from 1984 to 1987, Dresden worked as the first medical bookstore manager.

Left: Teresa Clark, Patient Relations Assistant in Communications Disorders, was honored for five years of service.

Right: Penny Moore, Administrative Assistant for the divisions of Clinical Leadership and Management, Clinical Nutrition, and Radiation Sciences. Although she is fairly new to the College of Health Sciences, Penny has served the University of Kentucky for five years.
