

All are invited to attend
The Dean's Distinguished Lecture Series
Noon to 1 pm Friday, January 9, 2009
Hospital Auditorium, HG611

If you require special physical arrangements to attend this meeting, please call 323-2615

"The Biology of small RNAs"

Phillip A. Sharp, PhD
1993 Nobel Prize in
Physiology or Medicine
Institute Professor

David H. Koch Institute for Integrative
Cancer Research, Massachusetts Institute of Technology

Objectives:

- 1) To introduce the science of small RNAs
- 2) To indicate potential therapeutic use of small RNAs
- 3) To discuss the relationship of gene regulation by small RNAs and disease

Special Program Note:

Seating available: HG611 (by RSVP only),
VA Auditorium, & Family Practice Room K354
Please RSVP by 1/5/09:

ddls@email.uky.edu

Lunch available at 11:20 am

Sponsored by C. William Balke, M.D., Associate Provost for Clinical and Translational Science,
Jay A. Perman, M.D., Dean, College of Medicine, and the Emery A. Wilson Lecture Series

The University of Kentucky College of Medicine is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education (ACCME) to sponsor continuing medical education for physicians. The University of Kentucky College of Medicine designates this activity for a maximum of one (1) AMA PRA Category 1 Credit™. Each physician should claim only those hours of credit that he/she actually spent in the educational activity. The University of Kentucky College of Medicine presents this activity for educational purposes only. Participants are expected to utilize their own expertise and judgment while engaged in the practice of medicine. The content of the presentations is provided solely by presenters who have been selected for presentations because of recognized expertise in their field. All faculty participating in continuing medical education programs sponsored by the University of Kentucky College of Medicine are expected to disclose any real or perceived conflict of interest related to the content of their presentations. In addition, any product discussed that is not labeled for the use discussed or is still investigational must be disclosed as such to participants. Accreditation approval for each grand round is dependent upon the department providing necessary documentation to the Colleges of Pharmacy and Medicine Continuing Education Program required by ACCME standards and guidelines. Attendees should check with Maggie Luoma in the CE Office at 859-257-5320 ext 80336 or mgluom2@email.uky.edu four to six weeks after the session to ascertain accreditation status.

The University Of Kentucky College Of Pharmacy is accredited by the American Council on Pharmaceutical Education as a provider of continuing pharmaceutical education. This program is acceptable for 1.0 hour of continuing pharmacy education credit (0.1 CEUs) in states that recognize ACPE providers. Statements of credit will indicate hours and CEUs based on the participant's attendance and will be issued after the completion of the series. The College complies with the Criteria for Quality continuing education programming. This program has been assigned ACPE# 022-000-09-001-L01-P.