Where the Mountains and the Bluegrass Meet

Jackson County, Kentucky

Reveal Imaging Technologies, Inc. found a manufacturing partnership in the United States with Kentucky based Precision Solutions, LLC. Located in Annville, Kentucky in the Jackson County Industrial Park, Precision Solutions is one of the success stories resulting from the development of a government program to encourage new or expanding businesses to locate in the Kentucky Highlands area. The Highlands Empowerment Zone and the State of Kentucky provide tax incentives as well as employee education and training through University extensions in the area.

Precision Solutions saw this program as an opportunity to redefine contract manufacturing by combining a dedicated, highly skilled workforce with state of the art manufacturing operations. These advantages allow Precision Solutions to offer superior services at a globally competitive cost.

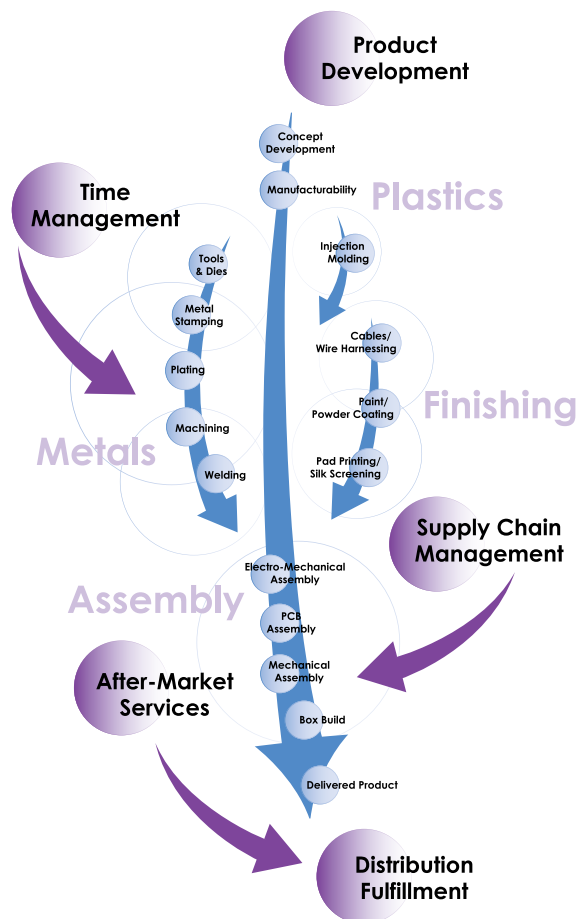

Precision Solutions is part of a larger family of privately held companies that are bringing manufacturing back to the Heartland.

Highland Diversified Services in London, KY and Mid South Industries, Inc. in Gadsden, Alabama are also part of this family of manufacturing companies. Along with Precision Solutions, these companies specialize in the manufacturing of:

- Stamped metal and plastic injection molded assemblies for the Automotive Industry
- Electronic, stamped metal and plastic injection molded assemblies for the Appliance Industry
- Electrical/Electronic assemblies for the Telecommunications and Homeland Security Industries
- Fully assembled products for the Commercial and Industrial Markets
