

Neuroimaging Research Study on Depression in Parkinson's Disease

Do you have Parkinson's disease?
Are you depressed?

If you answered yes to these questions, you may be eligible to participate in a research study to examine depression in patients with mild to moderate Parkinson's disease using magnetic resonance imaging (MRI). We are enrolling people with Parkinson's disease who are not being treated with an anti-depressant. This is not a treatment study.

This study is funded by the National Institute of Mental Health and National Institute of Neurological Disorders and Stroke. Qualified participants will be compensated for their time and travel. For more information, contact Chris Miara, M.A., at (859) 257-9223, ext. 2.
